The Test of a Thankful Heart PASTOR'S ARTICLE | Dr. Kelly Burris |

The test of a thankful heart is how it responds to a context of crisis. Dr. Arthur Caliandro tells of the 25 year old woman who was flying in a small plane with her boss when they had to make an emergency landing in Texas.

The pilot was killed instantly, and she was knocked unconscious. When she regained consciousness, she saw her boss was dead. She was in great pain, and she cried out, but of course, there was no response.

It looked hopeless, but five hours later she was discovered and rescued. It was a wonder she was still alive, for she had severe internal injuries, but she was taken to a hospital and her life was spared.

When Dr. Caliandro heard her story he expected to visit a woman who would be grateful to be alive, but he found just the opposite. She did nothing but complain and gripe about her cruel fate. She remained in the hospital for two months, and none of the staff ever heard a positive word out of her. She was totally restored to health, but she was the unhappiest woman he had ever met, for her philosophy was, "This is the day the devil has made, let us complain and be miserable in it."

This Thanksgiving season let us remember, "This is the day the Lord has made, and let us rejoice in it," in spite of the circumstances that we may experience.

With a grateful heart,

Pastor Kelly

Calling All Men

Living and working in a performance oriented culture can and often does influence our relationship with God and other Christians. Sometimes we may feel as if we must perform certain activities to show our commitment to God or are being told, "If you love God you will be in church on Wednesday night."

The Message translation of the Bible says in Matthew 23:4, "Instead of giving you God's Law as food and drink by which you can banquet on God, they package it in bundles of rules, loading you down like pack animals."

We must avoid getting mired down in "man-made" rules and regulations. We must do more than just conform or perform. As men, we must work together helping each other find spiritual solutions, as we apply the healing balm of the gospel to our souls.

Jesus does not say, "Come unto me all you who are weary and I will give you more work to do." Instead, He offers rest to weary travelers. This is our perspective as we fellowship with each other and explore the gospel.

You know what the most important issues you face today are. The real question is "What do I need to know in order to be victorious?" I encourage you to join with the men of KBC on the weekend of November 4th and 5th for the Men's Retreat and Joe Gibbs "Game Plan For Life". You will hear Joe Gibbs and some of his closest friends answer this crucial question. You will receive solid biblical teaching and have the opportunity to participate with friends in informative discussion. This will be a "game-changer." It CAN change your life. Sign up now! And, I'll see you at the Retreat.

Bro Ken
